REPORT AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE SELECTMEN.

In submitting the following report of the expenditures of the town of Pittsfield for the year ending February 15, 1911, the selectmen wish to call the attention of the taxpayers to a few conditions and customs which, if changed, we think would greatly benefit the town. We feel that the present method of caring for our highways might be greatly improved. It is a fact in this and almost every small town that a large amount of our highway appropriation is wasted and that our roads are not growing better, but rapidly getting into a condition where a large amount of money must be expended to put them into shape. The tendency to narrow the roadbed and to let the bushes grow too near the wheel track is apparent on nearly all outside roads. In this day of automobiles the policy should be to widen the roadbed and cut back the bushes so a clear view can be had for quite a distance ahead.

We should get much more for the money expended if the work could be done early in April when the ground is moist. The custom of leaving the roads until everything else is done is unwise from the standpoint of economy, to say the least. We hope that the incoming surveyors will exert their best efforts to put the roads in condition as early as possible after the frost is out of the ground.

Some criticism in regard to the care or lack of care of our state road during the past season has been made; that all may understand the facts, I will say that early in the year at the request of the board the state engineer sent an expert to examine our road. After looking it over carefully and taking into consideration the fact that we have no machinery with which to repair it, he advised us to leave it as it was one year more.

A considerable sum will be required from now on to keep the road in good condition and prevent a waste of the first investment.

The fact that the valuation of our town has decreased about $16,000 in the last two years, means our tax rate will increase unless other taxable property is added to the list. It seems to the board that a reappraisal of the real estate might obviate the necessity of an increase in rate, and we heartily recommend that a committee be chosen at their annual meeting to act with the selectmen for that purpose.

We also recommend that the town vote to deduct 2% from all taxes paid on or before July 1st. It has been the custom for years to pay our taxes about December 1st, after nearly all the bills incident to running the town have been contracted and paid. This necessitates the hiring of about $10,000 in the early part of the season with which to pay these bills. We believe that, if the above vote could be carried into effect, it would do away with hiring money with which to pay our bills. If we must pay interest let us give our hard-working taxpayers the benefit.

It is very easy in looking over our beautiful town to see where many permanent improvements could be made. Much as we would like to make these improvements we find that strict economy in expenditures is necessary to keep within the appropriations made at the annual town meeting; this the board has tried to do. A portion of the special appropriation made for grading the town hall lot has been expended in putting the bank wall in shape and grading and seeding the lot; this, together with a coat of paint to the town hall building, has greatly improved both the lot and building.

Through the efforts of the Rev. Mr. Lyman the railroad was induced to contribute several carloads of coal ashes for the purpose of grading railroad square, providing the town would unload and distribute the same. The board considered it a grand opportunity and availed itself of it, much to the improvement of that section of the town.

Electric street lighting has been introduced in accordance with a vote of the town, which gives an equally distributed light over the entire village.

The foot walk constructed from the cemetery on Barnstead Road to the summer residence of the Rev. Dr. Scott has proved a great convenience to those living in that section, outside the village. Almost the entire cost was contributed by those interested in that part of the town, Mr. Scott alone giving $30 in money and quite a good deal of work. The cost to the town was $15. We hope that the same improvement may go on in other directions from the village, so those living on the outskirts may have better accommodations.

REPORT OF LIBRARY TRUSTEES.

In no essential particular has the administration of affairs at the library differed from previous years. In no wise has the active interest and the enjoyment of its privileges by the general public been less. On the contrary, if the record of circulation is to be taken as evidence thereof, it has visibly increased. When, at the close of the year 1909, the monthly records of circulation were tabulated it appeared that the withdrawals of books had reached a point where it could hardly be expected to increase. That was not the fact, however, as the record of withdrawals for the past year was 16,597, being 1,529 more volumes than for the previous year or any like period in the history of the institution. Such a satisfactory condition relative to the work of the library is gratifying to the official management as it must be to the taxpayers of the town who furnish the funds to operate the institution.

The consideration of the financial part of the administration of affairs leads up to the suggestion of $100 or more in the appropriation to be made at the coming March meeting, which seems necessary if certain needed repairs upon the building, both on the exterior and interior, are made. A new coat of paint should be applied to the wood-work, upon the outside, and the floors and the overhead ceiling treated in some manner if the appearance and preservation of the building is to be maintained to its present attractive and excellent condition.

ACCESSION OF BOOKS.

Four hundred and fourteen books have been accessioned during the past year. Of these 299 were purchased by the trustees from town appropriation. The other 105 were gifts from persons interested in the institution. The following is a list of those who have shown their kindly regard by donating one or more volumes: Dr. F. E. Cumings, Dr.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Board of Pittsfield:

I have the privilege of submitting to you, and through you to the citizens of Pittsfield, my first annual report as superintendent of schools, this being the tenth in the series of such reports. My work having actually begun with the opening of schools in September, this report must necessarily cover that portion of the school year beginning at that time.

The opening, at the beginning of the fall term, of the Memorial school, made possible through the beneficence of the late Hon. Hiram A. Tuttle and Mrs. Tuttle, occasioned a rearrangement of the grades. The sixth, seventh, and eighth grades are now housed in the Memorial building and the first five grades in the Grammar building. The manner of distribution of these grades in the several rooms is shown in the statistical table. Miss Leighton assumed the duties of principal at the Memorial building and Miss Fowler, who had been in charge at the Brick school, became principal at the Grammar building. At the close of the fall term Miss Fowler resigned these duties and Mrs. Clark was elected principal. Miss Sherburne, who had been acting as assistant at the Brick school, was given full charge of this school. The average enrollment by the several buildings for the fall term was as follows: High, 57; Memorial, 82; Grammar, 163; Brick, 27; Jenness Pond, 5; Upper City, 11; total, 345.

The depletion of numbers at South Pittsfield suggested to the school board the plan of transporting these pupils to the village. This plan was tried for the fall term. The results were so manifestly advantageous that it was voted to continue the arrangement for the remainder of the year.

We have now but two rural schools; the Upper City of eleven pupils, of whom four are tuition pupils from Loudon, and the Jenness Pond, where the enrollment at this writing is but three, a number manifestly too small to make anything like an enthusiastic or satisfactory school.

The curriculum of the modern school is enriched by a variety of subjects which tend to give the boys and girls a broader training and a saner development. The good school, however, still teaches and teaches well the so-called "three R's." Whatever else his child may learn at school every parent has a right to expect that he will learn there to read easily and understandingly, to write a plain, legible hand, to spell ordinary words correctly, and to be perfectly familiar with the fundamental principles of arithmetic. The school that fails to produce these results is justly open to adverse criticism.

I have given particular attention to these subjects in my work. An increased interest has been aroused in spelling due to a somewhat different method of attack and the introduction of a spelling book. Heretofore it has been customary for each teacher to make her own selection of words. This method has advantages and also some decided disadvantages. The spelling book certainly gives more system to the work.

The Palmer system of penmanship has been introduced. This is a system of muscular movement. No particular system was being taught in our schools at the time this was introduced. This has brought to the teachers an additional amount of work but they have gone about it unhesitatingly. The system has been in use only a comparatively short time, but judging from the enthusiasm of both teachers and pupils it promises to meet our expectations. Good penmanship is a labor-saving machine.

The charge is sometimes made that the modern school with the variety of subjects taught does not and cannot teach the fundamentals so satisfactorily as the school of twenty-five or fifty years ago. I have this bit of contradictory evidence to offer. In 1905 a set of examination papers written by ninth grade pupils in 1846 was found in one of the grammar school buildings of Springfield, Mass. The questions were given to an eighth grade class in the same building for the purpose of comparing the results in arithmetic under the older methods of teaching with the results obtained under contemporary methods. The class of 85 pupils who took the test in 1846 averaged 29.4 per cent. In 1905, the eighth grade class averaged 65.5 per cent. I took occasion some few weeks ago to give this test to our eighth grade. The average for the class was 77 per cent.

Our schools are reasonably well equipped in the matter of text-books. I see no call for any new adoptions, as far as the grades are concerned, in the immediate future, other than some additional reading material and a few reference books which could be secured without any considerable outlay. Old books are of course continually wearing out and must be replaced. Several maps and globes have been added to the equipment of the upper grades. Two or three additional maps would be serviceable.

Our attendance on the whole has been good. The pupils of the Brick school are deserving of praise for their good showing in this particular. We have the unfortunate record of 780 tardinesses for the year. The boy habitually tardy at school is likely to be tardy all through life. This is a problem that we must attack vigorously. It may be that the home can give us some assistance.

Teachers' meetings have been held at occasional intervals. We plan to go over carefully our whole course of study in the meetings to be held during the remainder of the year.

The present enrollment in the high school is as follows: Freshmen, 20; sophomores, 18; juniors, 7; seniors, 11; total, 56. The courses remain the same as last year with the exception that music has been made a part of the regular work. Last year a glee club was organized and directed by Miss Florence E. Adams, who very graciously volunteered her services. The success of this undertaking led the school board to make arrangements with Miss Adams to give one lesson a week in the high school in addition to her work in the grades, so that all the pupils in the school might have the benefit of some work in music. There was some question as to how successful this might be, and I am pleased to report that a good live interest has been aroused and the pupils are taking hold enthusiastically. Success is assured. Miss Adams is continuing her work with the glee club gratuitously. The recent acquisition of a piano for the main room through the generosity of the academy trustees is gratefully appreciated.

I wish to testify to the very excellent spirit which exists in this school. It is of a sane and healthy character and both teachers and pupils are to be commended. Some very creditable work is being done. For the fall term 95 per cent. obtained a mark above passing, and 87 per cent. had a mark of 80 or better. This school has one very pressing need. A set of encyclopedias is an imperative necessity. I wish to bring this strongly to the attention of the school board.

The special work in music has been going along smoothly. The children are learning something about the technical side of music and they are learning to sing. The individual teachers have each been doing some work in drawing, another of the special subjects; some more, others less. The place that drawing may take in the educative process is universally recognized. We ought to have a special teacher in this subject to direct the work, instruct the teachers, and give weekly lessons to the pupils.

The one subject most discussed at the present time in educational circles is industrial training. Under this industrial work is included cooking, sewing, domestic science, wood work, iron work, etc. To many this suggests a large outlay, special teachers, a costly plant fully equipped to teach a trade. There is quite another side to the matter. At a small cost a half dozen or more benches could be erected in the basement of one of our buildings and a few necessary tools purchased. The material to be used would cost next to nothing. A teacher might very likely be found in one of the regular grade teachers who has had sufficient training in the normal school for this work. She could give one hour of her time each afternoon to different classes. Apart from the knowledge that the boys would acquire of the use and care of tools what would be the results? Boys who naturally drop out of school at an early opportunity would be held in school because a new interest would be aroused. Furthermore it would have a decided tendency to improve the general school work of all the boys.

Another phase of industrial work is within our reach. If the girls were to spend one hour a week in learning to sew it would be time profitably spent. The cost would be insignificant.

In conclusion I wish to acknowledge the many kindnesses shown me by the school board and the hearty coöperation of the teachers. I wish also to thank the children for their kindly greetings which have made the work pleasanter.

Respectfully submitted,
CHANNING T. SANBORN,
Superintendent of Schools.
